

ARTSA-i Networking Night

Join us on the 24 July for the ARTSA Institute Networking night at the historic Auburn Hotel in Hawthorn. Hear from our two very interesting guest speakers while you enjoy your meal and network with colleagues from across the heavy vehicle industry.

Speaker details:

David Anderson – ARTSA Life Member

David has a long and significant career serving the Victorian community as CEO of VicRoads, and later serving the Australian community as chairman of the National Transport Commission and leader of the PBR Review panel that is convened by the NHVR. He continues to help our industry to improve.

Ian Tayles – Long Term ARTSA Associate and Supporter

Ian has a great history doing useful things. He has driven tractors, built sheds and a house, been a civil engineer on tunneling projects, started and operated LPG gas delivery business, been a farmer, had part ownership of a TV network that he sold to Kerry Packer, been a member of the CMF defending the Victorian Alps from the Viet Cong, and driven B-double trucks as a transport company owner. He wants his legacy to be improved safety and fairness in the road transport freight sector.

David and Ian's career experiences, insights and opinions will be described during an informal chat with ARTSA Chair Peter Hart.
